Sounds of shouting, foot stamping and table banging echoed around the village last Saturday when a group of excited racing fans attended a race meeting in the Mission Hall. Race organiser Jez whipped up the atmosphere, we all carefully studied our race sheets, read the form of the horses and placed our bets with the highly efficient bookies. There were lots of groans and yells of triumph as people collected their winnings. Delicious fish and chips from Straceys provided a break from the tension and a chance to compare our fortunes. At the end of the night some of us were broke and presented with wooden spoons while Steve had made an unbelievable £64,000. Can't believe that he didn't have inside information!!! Nonetheless it was a great evening and lovely to be back with friends having fun.
